

SMITH & BROCK

EXPERTLY SELECTED, PROUDLY DELIVERED

WEEKLY PRODUCT UPDATE - 01/07/19

Hello all, has the summer finally started? Not sure where to stand with all this climate change! From torrential rain to life a threatening heat wave in parts of Europe! We have suffered a lot with the rain with issues which will stay for weeks to come with English crops of broccoli and cauliflowers but overall we think it is not going to be as catastrophic as anticipated.

As per the heat wave, well, salads will be looking for some shade and the distribution cold chain is put to the test! On the farm side, those products really need to be refrigerated as quickly as the farmers possibly can so they keep for longer once stored.

Here some of the products that we really should have on the menu at this time of the year!

- Apricots
- Artichokes - baby
- Artichokes - globe
- Black figs
- Candy and golden beetroot
- Charentais melon
- Cippolini onions
- Corn
- Courgette flowers

SMITH & BROCK WEEKLY REPORT #82

English cherries
 Flat peach
 Girolles
 Gooseberries
 Heirloom tomatoes
 Heritage radish
 Kohlrabi
 Marrow
 Muscat grapes
 New season garlic
 Padron pepper
 Peaches - Italian
 Peaches - Spanish
 Raspberries and strawberries from Kent,
 Romanesco, yellow and purple cauliflower
 Romelo/pointy peppers
 Round courgette
 Spring onions
 Swiss chard and rainbow chard
 Trevisse

EDIBLE FLOWERS

Some examples of edible flowers currently available

Edible mixed flowers

DRY STORE

We have a selection of dry store getting larger and larger every day! Here you have, some random examples:

